

Redaction notice

Details of the individuals supported by the participants have been redacted from the repository version of this thesis. The general nature of the client group has been provided to assist the reader in the absence of specific client information:

The individuals whom the participants supported were all men, five of whom lived in community facilities and one in an inpatient residential facility. Their IQ was measured by the WAIS and ranged from 51 to 82 (Mean 61) and their ABAS scores from 49 to 76 (mean 59). Their offences included a range of contact and noncontact sexual offences.