

Erratum Notice

Sesebi squeezes – I would like to emphasise that the EES squeezes matched to the pillars at Sesebi was part of the ongoing work of Dr. Kate Spence at University of Cambridge.

I would like to thank her for sharing her work with me, enabling me to produce a fuller catalogue of changes between the date the squeeze was taken and the monument today than would have been possible otherwise.

Page 49 – Email from Elizabeth Fleming at Griffith Institute

At the time I received this email in 2013 the information was correct but between 2013 and 2019 the J. J. Clère MSS has been regularly studied by national and international scholars.

I would like to thank the Griffith Institute for giving me permission to publish details of their archival material.